Take My Word for It

This is easier said than done. Growing up, we insisted on doing things ourselves, learning from our own experience, developing a sense of our own ability. We soon came to know that there are times when we should—in fact, we must—take someone else's word for something. If we refused to do this, we might be called a "doubting Thomas." Is that fair to us? Is it fair to Thomas? As today's Gospel passage reports, gathered in a room, several disciples of Jesus experienced him truly among them. Thomas was absent. When the others told him what had occurred, he refused to take their word for it. To believe, he also would have to experience Jesus. It is unfair to credit them with faith and label him a doubter. After all, their experience probably convinced them, an event Thomas did not enjoy with the other disciples. The point of this story is not Thomas' eventual visit by Jesus or his subsequent profession of faith. Rather, it is the source of such a confession. Thomas was unwilling or unable to accept the truth of the resurrection unless he saw Jesus and touched him. Jesus told him: "Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed" (John 20:29). Blessed are you and me, who have come to know Jesus and the truth of his resurrection on the word of others—our parents and teachers, pastoral ministers and friends, those who have come to know him and who witness to this in their lives.

A WORD FROM Pope Francis

[Lectio divina] is first of all a matter of reading the biblical passage attentively—even more, I would say with “obedience” to the text, to understand what it means in and of itself. One then enters into dialogue with Scripture, so that those words become a cause for meditation and prayer.

SAINT OF THE WEEK—Feast Day April 25th ST. MARK THE EVANGELIST—Died c. 68

*Painting by Cristobal Almanza
'Soul Painter'*

St. Mark is the author of the second gospel and is believed to be the ‘John Mark’ in Acts of the Apostles. He traveled about with Paul and Barnabas as they went to Antioch in 44 A.D. Paul and Barnabas also journeyed to Asia Minor and Cilicia without Mark. There was an apparent disagreement between Paul and Mark for a time. The troubles seemed to end when Paul was imprisoned, as Mark visited him there. During Paul’s second imprisonment he wrote to Timothy at Ephesus to bring Mark to Rome with him. Mark was probably there at the time of Paul’s martyrdom. Tradition says Mark was also a close companion of St. Peter and that Peter referred to Mark as his “son” in letters he sent to Asia Minor churches. According to writings of Irenaeus and Cyril of Alexandria, Mark was an interpreter for Peter. He founded the episcopal see of Alexandria, a very important see in early Christianity.

Mark’s gospel was most likely written between 60 - 70 A.D. and was based on the teachings of St. Peter. He also is thought to have given Matthew and Luke the basics for their gospels. He lived in Alexandria for many years and was martyred in 68 A.D. by being dragged through the streets. His relics were stolen from Alexandria in 828 A.D. when two Venetian merchants were told that they were in danger of desecration. The relics were stolen, taken to Venice and placed in a stunningly beautiful Cathedral of San Marco. Most of what is known about St. Mark the Evangelist is from Catholic tradition. Mark’s symbol is a winged lion.

An Act of Spiritual Communion

*My Jesus,
I believe that
You are present
in the Most Holy Sacrament.*

*I love you
above all things,
and I desire to receive You
into my soul.
Since I cannot
at this moment
receive You
sacramentally,
come at least
spiritually into my heart.*

*I embrace You as if You were already there
and unite myself
wholly to You.
Never permit me
to be separated
from You.
Amen.*

*Thank God... for the gift of Jesus
in the Eucharist!*

Dear Padre,

My friend is doing a Bible study, and part of the program is something called lectio divina. Is that a Catholic practice?

This method of listening to Scripture has the Church's approval. In fact, Catholic bishops have recommended lectio divina as an easy way for Catholics to become more familiar with the Bible. The practice of lectio divina is quite simple: First, ask the Holy Spirit to help you listen. Then slowly read a short Scripture passage aloud. Listen for a word or phrase that strikes you. Next, think about why this word or phrase is so striking at this moment. Does the word or phrase touch your life right now? Then, ask God's help in making an important choice, or ask what the word or phrase that struck you in the first step means in your life. Finally, close your eyes, let go of all thoughts, and remain silent before God. These parts have a logical progression, but it's not a hard-and-fast method. People who have been doing lectio divina for a long time sometimes move back and forth between parts. If you practice lectio divina regularly, over time your understanding of God's word will deepen.
